BRITISH ARMIES GAIN MANY VICTORIES OVER ENEMY ARMY TUESDAY

Gains of Greatest Importance Made By the Australians Between Cambrai and St. Quentin — Heavy Casualties Inflicted Upon the Germans—Many Villages Taken During Day.

BULLETIN

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE ST. QUENTIN FRONT, Oct. 1. — By the Associated Press. — Some hundreds of Americans in a certain far advanced position between Cambrai and St. Quentin which they reached late Sunday were holding out valiantly against superior enemy numbers according to latest reports which were received yesterday.

The Australians made heroic attempts to assist them, and, so far as can be learned are still keeping up these efforts, the result of which is not known. Furious fighting continues here.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 1. — By the Associated Press. — This was another day of victories for the fighting British army. The Belgians also continued their forward movement.

Gains of the greatest importance were made by the Australians between Cambrai and St. Quentin, and it seems that they have crossed the canal everywhere. Long lines of enemy transports are fleeing east and northeastward from this region as well as other regions. The day was an ideal one for flying, and the British aviators flew low over the enemy masses and poured bullets by tens of thousands into them, while at the same time bombers picked massed troops as targets and often loosed their projectiles on the transport columns in full flight inflicting terrible damage.

The better visibility also enabled the British gunners to do more accurate work.

Once more casualties of great proportions have been inflicted on the Germans who now are fighting with greatest desperation realizing that their position in this entire area is more precarious than at any time during the past four years.

True, there has been again the hardest of close fighting astride and in the Hindenburg system; but back of here there is open country. Joncourt now is well behind the British lines after brisk fighting. The lines are some distance east of Levergies. Estrees, captured once and then lost in a counter-attack has now been taken by storm. The Australians smashed well eastward of it making sure of maintaining their gain.

From here the battle line curves back northwestward, passing about 1500 yards southwest of Gouey, which also has once been reached by the allied troops but at the present moment is in German hands. The torch has been applied to Cambrai and the town is burning briskly. It is evident that the Germans realize they must get away from this locality and consequently they are burning Cambrai and other places. Great tongues of flame and billows of smoke are rising from the burning towns.

French Enter St. Quentin

French Headquarters in France, Oct. 1.—By the Associated Press.—French troops entered St. Quentin this afternoon.

Violent explosions were observed in St. Quentin beginning about six o'clock this morning. General DeBeney's forces operating with the British to the north of the town advanced beyond the St. Quentin-Cambrai road.

Between Urvillers and Cerizy, the French are meeting with much stronger resistance by machine gun nests but everywhere have advanced in this region south of St. Quentin. East of Rheims, General Gouraud in addition to taking a large number of prisoners and guns, has cavtured more than 200 narrow gauge railroad cars and other material.

The Germans appear to have decided to make a stand in the group of hills northwest of Rheims called the St. Thierry massif. It is just west of the old French line that ran along the Aisne canal from Berry-au-Bac to the region of Rheims. Possession of this strong position is necessary to the Germans in order that they may maintain their present line farther east including the forts of St. Thierry and Brimont, from which they bombard Rheims. Along the Vesle General Berthelot's forces, notwithstanding the machine gun opposition have everywhere advanced beyond Revillon.

Americans Hold Lines

Paris, Oct. 1.—By the Associated Press.—A German counter attack in the vicinity of Apremont on the battle front northwest of Verdun was successfully beaten back today by the Americans. Otherwise the fighting on the American front was virtually at a standstill. Broken roads and destroyed bridges are being repaired with greater regularity.

There was no change in the battle line at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when this despatch was filed.

The enemy's casualties continue heavy under the American artillery and infantry fire and the operation of the American tanks. The trench strength of one company of Germans was reduced from 60 to 18. Another company lost 30 per cent of its effectives.

The enemy on Tuesday was continually bringing up reinforcements, leading to the belief that it is his intention to endeavor to hold his present line at least temporarily.

Tanks Drive Forward

With the American Army on the St. Quentin Front, Oct. 1. — By the Associated Press.—Before the American advance the Germans littered the country with tank mines, apparently anticipating withdrawal. Scores of British tanks, many of them manned by American crews are co-operating in the American advance. One of these rolled over a mine and was blown up, one casualty resulting.

The others got thru and did splendid execution. These American tank crews were trained in England and had been waiting behind the front for the attack. They rolled along before the infantry and directly in the rear of a creeping barrage and cleared many machine gun nests. After the manner of the British, the Americans drove their machines right on top of the Germans crushing down men, guns and nests. Some of the crews came out of the fight with their tractors dripping with blood showing how completely they had accomplished the task assigned to them.

GERMANY FACES GREAT DANGER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—An official despatch from France today quotes the German socialist newspaper Vorwaerts on the Bulgarian situation as follows:

"Bulgaria deserts the central alliance to make peace. We, the German people, then remain alone to face the French, English and the Americans ,our backs to the wall and death facing us. Such is the situation that we have in view today and we must meet it with the necessary courage."

The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says:

"No one can avoid seeing how great the danger is owing to the Bulgarian crisis. It would be a crime to conceal it."

SUFFRAGE BILL KNOCKED OUT BY SENATORS

Resolution Two Votes Short of Necessary Two-Thirds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The United States senate today refused to grant the request of the president that the woman suffrage resolution be passed as a war measure.

After five days of bitter debate, the Susan B. Anthony federal amendment resolution enacted by the house last January received on the final roll call two votes less than the necessary two thirds majority. Fifty four senators were recorded for it and 30 against it with two absent and paired.

Before the vote was announced Senator Jones of New Mexico, chairman of the woman suffrage committee to comply with parliamentary requireents changed his vote from the affirmative to the negative and moved that the senate reconsider. This made the final official record 53 to 31 and left the resolution technically pending on the senate calender in position for further consideration planned after the November election when suffrage supporters hope to muster the requisite number of votes.

President Wilson's personal address to the senators yesterday supplemented by letters today to Democratic senators opposed to the resolution did not change a single vote altho in the final debate some senators asserted that defeat of the resolution would mean repudiation of the executive.

Defeat Only Temporary.

Chairman Jones and other champions of the resolution declared after today's vote that the defeat is only temporary and that the contest will be renewed after the November elections when changes in membership are certain.

Administration leaders also admitted that the vote was the first important reverse President Wilson has met in advocacy of what he has declared to be essential war measures.

When the same resolution was last before the senate March 19, 1914, it also was defeated thirty five voting for its adoption and thirty four in opposition. The vote today came just before 4 o'clock after one of the most bitter and spectacular contests in the senate in years. Charges and counter-charges of responsibility for the result were hurled back and forth with partisan politics again an issue. In a last effort to win over Democrats opposing the measure following his address to the senate yesterday, President Wilson today sent personal letters to Senators Overman of North Carolina, Shields of Tenn., Benet of South Carolina, Martin of Kentucky and it was reported a few others, earnestly seeking their support, but all his efforts were futile.

All efforts today to amend the resolution failed. A motion by Chairman Jones to table the amendment of Senator Williams of Mississipi designed to limit the franchise to white woman was carried 61 to 22. The proposal of Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey to require American citizenship of women voters was also rejected, 50 to 33, while an amendment by Senator Fletcher of Florida, designed to apply the resolution's prohibition against the abridgement of franchise because of sex to the federal government only was lost 64 to 17.

Both Factions Mobilized.

Both factions of the senate wer completely mobilized for the final issue today. The maximum attendance was mustered with all absentees paired. Gallaries filled early and overflowed as the final vote neared with women of the organizations who have fought for and against the resolution for years in reserved sections but when the vote was announced by Senator Lewis of Illinois, temporarily presiding there was no demonstration.

Miss Anna Paul, chairman of the National Woman's Party issued this statement tonight:

"This defeat is temporary. The defeat of the United States senate today were are convinced will be reversed before this congress ends. Our efforts to secure that reversal will begin at once and will continue until our victory in the house is confirmed by victory in the senate."

Mrs. James Wadsworth, president of the National association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, later issued a statement, saying:

"Our faith in the wisdom and integrity of the United States senate is justified. The legislative branch of the government has retained its independence. The principal 'self determination, the constitutional right of each state to settle this question for itself by popular vote, has triumphed over every consideration of political 'policy' ".

Chairman Jones announced after the roll call that he would not call up his motion for reconsideration until he is positive certain of having the necessary majority.

"The defeat is only temporarily said he. The fact that we needed only two votes shows that the country favors the resolution. We made a good fight and will win the next time."

In the concluding debate in the senate, Senatcd Cummins of Iowa Republican supporter of the resolution suggested that another "little group of wilful men" were combined to defeat the resolution and repudiate the president. The Iowa senator asked if they would be punished by the president as others have ben who opposed the executive's war program.

Senator Pittman of Nevada, Democrat prominent in championing teh measure reiterated suggestions that Republicans had "tricked the Democrats by withhold affirmative votes to cause defeat because the vote would have serious effect on Western Senatirial candidates. He predicted however that the women of western states will visit their disappointment alike upon Republican and Democrat senators.

War News Summary

News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

The town of St. Quentin, upon which the Germans had so firmly builded their hopes of proving an insuperable barrier to the allies at last has been entered by the French and seemingly the gateway is open to Marshal Foch for a swift advance eastward in his task of reclaiming northern France.

Meanwhile the Germans and their allies on all the battle fronts have continued to play a losing game and report has it that the Turks, realizing the critical situation thru successive defeats and the withdrawal of Bulgaria from the war, are sending out "peace feelers."

From northern Belgium to the region of Verdun the battle fronts are still seething with activity and with the entente forces continuing to make gains against the Germans which are seriously imperilling the enemy lines.

In Flanders the Belgians and Britsih in the region from Dixmude to Armentiers have drven in further their sharp wedge eastward, capturing important towns and cutting lines of communication necessary to the continued holding by the Germans of their submarine bases on the North Sea.

From Cambrai to St. Quentin, notwithstanding most violent reactions from the Germans the British, Americans and French again have won heavily fortified positions of the enemy all along the midway between St. Quentin and Cambrai the remaining portions of th old Hindenburg line are slowly being demolished. The Germans have imposed the strength of nearly half a million men against the allied troops to hold the front, and breaking thru of which, in conjunction with the successful maneuvers in Flanders, along the Aisne and in Champagne, would mean disaster.

Between the Vesle and Aisne rivers the French continue to push back the Germans north of the Aisne while in Champagne the French, operating in conjunction with the Americans are steadily advancing northward. Their guns now dominate the Aire river valley running to the north of Argonne forest, while on the other side of the forest the Americans are slowly coming up the Aire valley from the south and soon will be in a position with the French to nip this great wooded bastion out of the German line.

In the mountain region of the Italian front there has been a considerable increase in artillery activity and it is probable that Marshal Foch soon will begin an offensive here against the Austro-Hungarians.

General Allenby in Palestine has surrounded Dasmascus and French cavalry is reported to be working its way up the Mediterranean Sea coast toward Beyrout.

In the Macedonian theater west of Lake Ochrida the Austrian are evacuating the territory in Albania, probably indicating that now Bulgaria is out of the war the Austro-Hungarians realize they are in a serious predictament, far from home and with no allies to aid them.

Peace demonstrations are being put forth by Austria. The possibility of a German cabinet crisis is indicated by the resignation of the imperial chancellor, vice-chancellor and foreign minister.

In the recent fighting in France and Flanders the German losses in men killed, or wounded and in guns captured have been enormous. To the Belgians the Gerward defensive artillery and some heavy naval guns. Many men were made prisoner.

Fifty New Cases.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Only fifty new cases of influenza were reported at the Great Lakes Naval Training station today.

The serum discovered by Dr. William H. Parke, the health department bacteriologist is made from influenza germs obtained from persons in the early stages of the malady, combined with the baccili procured at autopsies upon the bodies of victims of the disease.

Great Military Lottery Finished In Record Time

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Mailing of numbers in the order in which they were drawn in the third great military lottery probably will begin tomorrow night. The drawing was completed at 8 a. m., today and as soon as the order has been checked the business of mailing the official list to the district draft boards will begin. District draft boards will make the lists immediately available to newspapers and post them for the information of the public.

The last of the 17,000 numbers which are to determine the order in which their respective classes of the 13,000,000 men who registered Sept. 12, was taken from the big glass bowl in the caucus room of the senate office building by Provost Marshal General Crowder. The capsule contained Number 12,734. The drawing which was started at noon yesterday by President Wilson has been completed in six hours less than the estimated time due to a race which developed between the shifts of young officers charged with the drawing.

During the first check of the tally sheets today only one number was found displaced. The correction was easily made from the tally wires on which the actual slips of paper bearing the numbers had been strung after being removed from the capsules.

Austria Desires Peace Agreement With Germany

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 1—According to Budapest newspapers the Austro-Hungarian government desires peace in agreement with Germany notwithstanding the fact that measures have been taken for defense as a result of Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war.

A despatch received here today from Budapest quotes the newspapers of that city as saying that Crown Council was held Saturday where military preparations which had become necessary as the result of Bulgaria's action were taken.

The government was still striving however at the earliest possible moment in agreement with Germany to secure a peace that would absolutely preserve the monarchy's territorial integrity, the newspapers say.

WEALTHY ARE TAXED HEAVILY

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Wealthy families of New York City will be taxed much more heavily on personal property next year it was shown today, when the books of the department of taxes were opened to the public. The assessors have increased personal property valuations by $600,488,930 and have placed opposite the names of many prominent residents figures many times as great as the estimates of 1918. Thirteen members of the Vanderbilt family who this year were listed at sums ranging from $200,000 to $380,000 now are asked to pay on a valuation of $1,000,000 each. John D. Rockefeller assessed at $5,000,000 this year, is taxed on a $10,000,000 basis. Andrew Carnegie whose name does not appear on the 1918 books, now is listed at $5,000,000. Charles M. Schwab, whose valuation this year was $118,000 has $1,000,000 beside his name. J. P. Morgan is taxed on $500,000.

WILL STABILIZE BUTTER MARKET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Thru the appointment of a committee to investigate the present situation as to dairy products, the food administration announced tonight first steps have been taken to stabilize the butter market. Increased demands from the army, navy and the allies have produced a temporary shortage of butter the food administration has been informed by representatives of the dairy interests. With the increasing scarcity the price of butter has risen steadily and consumption by the civilian population has decreased.

These conditions dairymen have agreed, will sooner or later produce a collapse in butter prices, possibly below the cost of production. Dairymen have recommended that when such a fall occurs government purchases to be used to support the market at a reasonable level.

GERMANY WILL TRY HARD TO KEEP TURKEY IN WAR

Hope To Maintain Communication with Eastern Ally

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Germany, if reports from a neutral center can be relied upon, is going to make a great effort to maintain communication over the Orient railway with Turkey, and thus hopes to keep her eastern ally in the war.

According to a Hague despatch to the Central News 250,000 German and Austro-Hungarian troops have arrived at Sofia from Roumania and while a part of these will remain in Sofia as an argument favoring the overthrow of the Malinoff government the majority will endeavor to keep the allied troops from the Orient railway which joins Germany and Austria with Constantinople, the capture of which a few years ago was hailed as the greatest achievement of the Central Powers. The removal of troops from Roumania however, is not without danger. A few weeks ago when appealed to by his colleagues on the western front for assistance, Field Marshal von Mackensen reported that conditions in Roumania did not warrant the transfer of a single soldier to that country. Now Roumanians are predicting that if the Roumanians do not rejoin the allies, there will be at least a rising in that country which will completely nullify the Bucharest treaty so far as it provides for the revictualling of the central powers.

Comment on Armistice.

London, Oct. 1.—The loss of the Bulgarians to the central alliance is regarded by the London morning papers as foreshadowing the end of the great four years' tragedy. The editorial writers for the most part are unable to see how Turkey can avoid following the Bulgarian lead while some believe that Austro-Hungary must do the same. For Germany it is held that the surrender spells ruin to her hopes in the middle-east and her aspirations of world empire.

"We have come to a solemn moment in this greatest of wars and in the long process of civilization," says the Times "It is no time for exultation but we may recognize in this great event the first clear unmistakeable presage that the confederacy of our enemies is tottering to its fall. The entire surprise which Bulgaria's desertion is to the peoples of the central powers cannot fail to enhance the moral consequences of the shock."

The Daily Telegraph says:

"It must bring the German rulers face to face with the unpleasant fact that the keystone has fallen out of the arch of Pan-German designs, and should Turkey follow in the steps of Bulgaria the whole Pan-German fabric falls to pieces like a house of cards."

The Morning Post says:

"The Germans have had their heaviest blow in the Near East since Frederick Barbarossa perished in the first attempt to establish a Berlin-Bagdad route. The allies have cut the Achilles tendon of the outstretched German foot."

The Daily News which sees the whole German position in France startling near the point of dissolution as a result of recent military successes by the allies there, calls attention to the fact that the kings of Saxony and Bavaria recently visited Sofia and that King Ferdinand, according to its information, now is in Vienna.

"These circumstances," it adds, suggest that a phase of the war is imminent that may leave the Hohenozllern dynasty isolated, with the lesser kings who have been its feudatories combined against it, to save themselves."

BRITISH STILL PROGRESS IN PALESTINE

London, Oct. 1.—British forces marching north from Palestine have virtually surrounded the city of Damascus. They are established on the north, west and south of the city it was officially announced today.

The troops which have effected this movement are cavalry forces. Some 1,000 prisoners and five guns were taken from the enemy rear guards.

Illinoians are justly proud today that the records show that practically one-eleventh of all the fighting forces of the U. S. in army and navy have come from this state. There seems to be something significant about this term "one-eleventh", for that is the basis on which the Liberty Loan assessment is made for this county and the other counties of the state. The treasury officials figured the quota for Morgan county at just one-eleventh of the equalized value of realty in the county.

The equal suffrage measure lost yesterday for the present, lacking two votes of the necessary two-thirds to carry it. At any rate, suffragists have reason now to be satisfied with President Wilson's advocacy of their cause for he made a personal—if not effectual—plea to have the proposed suffrage amendment approved as a war measure. But no doubt some of the radical will charge the president with insincerity and declare that the records show that congress has passed every measure that the president has deeply and sincerely wanted.

German U-boats are charged with spreading the germs which caused the present epidemic of Spanish influenza in army cantonments. There is just about as much truth in that story as some other wild ones that have been circulated in past months, crediting Germans with more ability to produce dire results than they have. But even granting for the sake of argument that U-boats have caused the epidemic, the medical department of the army will speedily find a way to combat the disease and to offset this nefarious plan, just as is being done with all other movements that Germany has set motion. The prevalence of the disease is justly causing some alarm but a moment's thought and a comparison of death and health statistics in the U. S. army and other armies will give the assurance that the health department of the army has been organized with a marvelous efficiency.

LIBERTY DAY.

Saturday, October 12, is the four hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the discovery of America. President Wilson has proclaimed it Liberty Day and requests the citizens of every community in the United States—city, town and countryside—to celebrate the day.

The President, in his proclamation, says:

"Every day the great principles for which we are fighting take fresh hold upon our thought and purposes and make it clearer what the end must be and what we must do to achieve it.

"We now know more certainly than we ever knew before why free men brought the great Nation and Government we love into existence, because it grows clearer and clearer what supreme service it is to be America's privilege to render the world."

A RED CROSS ROLL CALL

A Christmas Roll-Call of the whole American People for membership in the Red Cross will take place from December 16 to 23. The Red Cross wants again to give notice not only that America can fight, but that to the last man, woman and child we stand four square for mercy, honor and good faith among the nations.

At the close of the Christmas Membership campaign of 1917 there were 22,000,000 Americans enrolled in the Red Cross. There are also 8,000,000 members in the Junior Red Cross.

This year, both as a Christmas observance and as a renewal of the nation-wide pledge of loyalty the Red Cross will again put before every one the duty of standing by the flag; for the Red Cross in this great fight for Peace represents the whole spirit of what we are fighting for.

The Red Cross membership fee is one dollar. Half of this remains with the local chapter, to be used for expenses and for relief of our soldiers and their families; the other half goes to the National Treasury.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS!
By Simeon D. Fess,
Chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee.

In the rapid lengthening of the roll of honor can be read the story of the call to arms, the stirring of the patriotic heart, the response to defend the honor and life of the Republic, the breaking of home ties, the abandonment of life's plans, the deprivations incident of camp life, the heroic struggle on the field and the supreme sacrifice. Nearly two million of our sons are 'over there". An equal number are donning the uniform. We who are left will gladly make all necessary sacrifices as a guarantee that these honored dead shall not have died in vain, and the sons of the Republic who return shall be greeted by a grateful people highly appreciative of their sacrifice and service. Every man, woman and child not in the service will support the boys by helping to provide the means for their success on the field. The Fourth Liberty Loan should be enthusiastically received by us all as our best opportunity to serve. A speedy success will give new vigor and hope to our boys, unity of our people at home, and conviction of certain defeat in Berlin. It will speed the end of this awful tragedy of the world and other assurance for the future peace of mankind.

A. L. FRENCH ENTERTAINED COMMITTEE AT LUNCHEON.

Members of the Morgan County Republican Central Committee and candidates for county and legislative offices were luncheon guests yesterday of Arthur L. French, chairman of the committee. The men present accepted Mr. French's invitation to come to the Peacock Inn and have luncheon and talk over politicsal affairs. The only actual business transacted was the election of M. L. Hildreth as treasurer of the committee. The various candidates talked in a very hopeful way about the prospects and members of the committee made various suggestions.

It was an informal gathering and at which a fine spirit of party co-operation and loyalty was evident. All candidates are working earnestly for their own success and that of the whole ticket, and the prospects are accounted as excellent. Mr. French has started his term of office as chairman in a very auspicious way and has indicated to all candidates the desire of the committee to help them in every way.

LIEUT. COL. CLIFFORD HERE FROM CAPITAL

Illinois College Man Well Known in This City Holding Important Post in Army Service—Quartermaster's Department Shows Marvelous Development

Lieut. Col. Edward Clifford, who was an unexpected but welcome visitor at Illinois college yesterday, has been in the quartermaster's department of the army at Washington for more than a year past. He came to Jacksonville yesterday on his way to Virginia to make a brief visit with his parents. Col. Clifford was a more frequent visitor in Jacksonville before he left Chicago for Washington, as he and Mrs. Clifford often spent a few days with Mrs. Clifford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lambert.

The growth of the quartermaster's department, Col. Clifford mentioned to friends yesterday, was indicated by the fact that the department now includes 8,000 officers, 175,000 men and 65,000 civilians. This vast force of workers is necessary because the quartermaster's department has charge of the work of providing the men with clothing, food and equipment, taking care of their transportation, looking after their pay allotments and deposits. Because of Col. Clifford's experience in financial affairs, after going to Washington he was soon placed in charge of the deposits and allotments branch in the central disbursing division, and his was the task of practically organizing the department.

Crowded for Space.

Beginning a year ago with a hundred employes, the department has now grown to such an extent that there are 80 officers and 1400 clerks working under his direction. The difficulties of securing office space are such that this force is scattered thru several office buildings. The work of the department is increasing so rapidly that it will be necessary soon to centralize the forces in one large building. To accommodate its present force would require a ten-story building, 100 feet in general dimensions.

The work Col. Clifford did in Chicago in the management of the Second Liberty Loan campaign attracted the favorable attention of Secretary McAdoo, who asked him to come to Washington for work in the treasury department. It was after several months' service in the particular line for which he went to Washinton that Col. Clifford was transferred to his present work. The department of deposits and allotments has to do with the pay allotments and the insurance of all the soldiers in the cantonments in this country and overseas. The files of the office have a card index for every man in the service.

Endless Details.

When it is remembered how frequently men in the cantonments are changed, and when the continued changes of address of relatives or dependents are considered, it is easy to understand what a vast amount of detail there must be in such an office. "I did not know that there could be such a mass of detail about any work or business," said Col. Clifford yesterday, "until I went to Washington and was placed in charge of this department. Our work is continually increasing and while we have a loyal force of assistants for the most part, we are finding it impossible to keep quite abreast of the work. Many of the officers in the department work both night and day and in the endeavor to have all the records kept in proper condition there are workers in the offices 22 hours out of each day. Anyone who thinks that the officers and men in the various departments in Washington do not work is mistaken. The life has been so strenuous during the months past that many a man has been compelled to give up in order to avoid a nervous breakdown.

Satisfaction in Work

"The work in our department has been rendered more complicated because of the purchase of Liberty Bonds by many of the men in the service. The arrangements have been such that certain allotments were made by the soldiers from their pay toward the purchase of bonds. So it has been necessary to keep a record of these installment payments on bonds, in addition to all the other details of pay and allotments to relatives. But while the work is arduous there is a tremendous amount of satisfaction in being associated with the army organization and in having at least some small part in the splendid efforts which are being put forth by this nation to join with our allies in winning this war.

"As someone else has said, it is great to be an American these days. Men have worked and planned with marvelous foresight. The accomplishments of our navy and army are being daily recorded. The wheels of industry turn with a wonder of efficiency never before known. The civil population is joining in support of the army with a conspicuous loyalty. Yet when we recount all these things we must still recognize the fact that in all our preparations, our progress and our accomplishments, that the hand of God is the great force. The fields have produced as never before. Nature has brought forth in support of the allied cause and as we look at conditions, at results and at prospects, we know providence our greatest ally—and I make no pretense of being very religious."

ILLINOIS COLLEGE BECOMES UNITED STATES ARMY POST

More Than One Hundred and Forty Young Men Inducted Into Training Corps with Impressive Ceremony—College President, War Veteran and Army Officers Had Part in Program—Roster of Men.

No day in the history of Illinois college will stand out more boldly than Oct. 1, 1918 when 143 young men were inducted into the U. S. army service as members of the Students' Army Training corps. The exercises which were held in Jones Memorial building because of unfavorable weather, were in charge of Lieut. Hardwick, resident officer of the unit. The audience present filled the auditorium to overflowing. President Rammelkamp, Dean Hayden, members of the G. A. R., Lieut. Col. Edward Clifford, Capt. E. C. Vickery, Lieutenants Wesley James and Felix E. Farrell of Co. C., state militia, and various guests of the college were on the platform, in addition to the speakers.

After Lieut. Hardwick had administered the oath of allegiance and read the messages sent to the men by President Wilson, Benedict Crowell, acting secretary of war, and Peyton March, chief of staff, Dr. Rammelkamp was the first speaker. Then addresses were made by Miller Weir, chairman of the Morgan county local board; Capt. J. M. Swales, Matt Starr post G. A. R., Lieut. Col. Edward Clifford, an alumnus of the college and now in the quartermasters corps of the army.

At the order of Lieut. Hardwick, members of the corps with uplifted right hand, took the oath of allegiance to the flag, "I pledge my allegiance to my flag and the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all" Lieut. Hardwick then extended greetings from President Wilson, the commander in chief of the army of the U. S.; from the secretary of war, the chief of staff and the colonel of the general staff corps.

Message From the President

The President's message read here and at other colleges at the same hour, was as follows:

"The step you have taken is a most significant one. By it you have ceased to be merely individuals, each seeking to perfect himself to win his own pledge in the world and have become comrades in the common cause of making the world a better place to live in. You have joined yourselves with the entire manhood of the country and pledged, as did your forefathers, "Your lives, your fortunes and your scared honor" to the freedom of humanity.

"The enterprise upon which you have embarked is a hazardous and difficul tone. This is not a war of words; this is not a scholastic struggle. It is a war of ideals, yet fought with all the devices of science and with the power of machines. To succeed you must not only be inspired by teh ideals for which this country stands, but you must also be masters of the technique with which the battle is fought. You must not only be thrilled with zeal for the common welfare, but you must also be masters of the weapons of today.

"There can be no doubt of the issue. The spirit that is revealed and the manner in which America has responded to the call is indomitable. I have no doubt that you too will use your utmost strength to maintain that spirit and to carry it forward to the final victory that will certainly be ours.

"WOODROW WILSON."

President Rammelkamp spoke in a very forceful way. "This day is one which will stand out in the history of the colleges and universities of the country for wherever there is an institution taking part in the student army training corps movement a ceremony similar to the one here is taking place. You have entered this movement to aid your country in winning this war and that is the spirit which dominates the land. Very soon after the U. S. entered the war the trustees of this college sent a telegram to the authorities at Washington tendering the institution for war work and expressing a wish to cooperate with the government in every possible way. Today you see the result of that communication and we are realizing that our offering to the union has been accepted. In some larger institutions there will be more young men entering the service but nowhere, I am sure, can there be found greater loyalty or a keener appreciation of the needs and meaning of the hour.

AnOportunity for Service.

"Today 143 young men have formally entered the army service and have taken the oath of allegiance. At the opening of the college two weeks ago I spoke at some length to the students and made special references to the opportunity for service which is now presented to them. So today I will not repeat the statements made at that time. As I look about this audience today I can see a number of students who made their way thru college after some struggles. Some sacrifices were necessary to make it possible for them to go thru the college course. Now you are here at the expense of the nation. You are to be given college training and prepared to serve as leaders in this war movement and at the same time to be paid the wages of soldiers. I am sure you appreciate this relationship and the meaning that it brings. We cannot but think as we look about this assemblage of young men of the time when you will be called upon to meet the supreme test and we are sure you will do it honorably and that your conduct on the field of battle will be just as you have indicated it will be in this college army post.

Must Study War Issues.

"The government not only wants you to be prepared for combat but incidentally that you shall understand the motive and spirit of this war. So it is required that a position on the issues of the war must be taken by every young man in the military training unit. It is your duty to study the underlying facts and to keep up with the news from the front. No doubt you are familar with the current developments as reported in the papers during recent days. I hope indeed that all of you read President Wilson's recent address and if you did I am sure you were impressed with his summing up of the meaning and purpose of this war.

"President Wilson said: 'Peace drives' will be effectively neutralized and silenced only by showing that every victory of the nations associated against Germany brings the nations nearer the sort of peace which will bring security and re-assurance to all peoples and make the recurrence of pitiless force and blood shed forever impossible and that nothing else can. Germany is constantly intimating the 'terms' she will accept; and will always find that the world does not want terms. It wishes the final triumph of justice and fair dealings.'".

Victories Over Self.

Lieut. Hardwick, introducing Mayor Rodgers, said that he had noticed a service button in the lapel of Mayor Rodgers' coat and said that the mayor was therefore qualified to speak before such a gathering. "I have a son in the service, said Mayor Rodgers, "and he is the pride of my heart. I know the feeling of those who have sons in this war. The thought I wish to impress upon these young men who are entering the service is that what they accomplish remains with them. We of older years will soon pass on but the salvation of the future depends upon you young men. Remember not only your own lives but the influence you have upon others, and the man who has learned to control himself has won the greatest of all victories. It is recorded in holy writ that 'He who ruleth his own soul is greater that he that taketh a city,' and so today I would urge upon you the necessity for self-control.

"I want to congratulate you this morning on the opportunity you have as young men for entering this great conflict and doing the full part of men. You are going to make a free-will offering and as you go I believe that you will feel the weight of your holy calling and will measure up to the standard of scriptures which gives as an ideal of living to love mercy, do justice and to walk humbly in the sight of God."

Miller Weir, chairman of the Morgan county selective board, was introduced as the next speaker, after Lieut. Hardwick had commented upon the great importance of the work done by the selective service boards of the U. S. in the organization of the army. Mr. Weir said in part:

What But Victory?

"It is certainly a privilege to appear on this historic day, on this historic hill, and today's ceremonial portends that universal military training will come to the land, so that there can never again be a day of unpreparedness. I am glad that the time has come so quickly that boards have become in truth selective rather than draft boards. At the recent bankers' convention Secy. Daniels referred to the great force that America now has overseas, with more than a million men in training under arms and 13,000,000 in reserve, and de-

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates — but no oil — the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.

Bainbridge, N.Y.
"My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.

Williamson, W. Va.
"My little boy was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children. —Harley Clay.

CONCORD SUFFERED FIRE LOSS SUNDAY

Barn Burns on Farm of Henry Aufdenkamp—Contents Belonged to Tenant, Albert Neinheiser —Loss Only Partially Covered by Insurance—Concord News Notes.

Concord, Oct. 1.—This burg and community was startled considerably on Sunday about 2:15 p. m., when a powerful motor was heard up in the air, humming a tune which sounded like "Liberty Bonds Today." The great airplane came and went in a short space of time. On the way from Concord to Chapin it paid a brief visit over our homes. Our pasture would have been a fine place to light but the driver was in a hurry and drove on to Chapin and Jacksonville.

Sunday evening about 6 o'clock Albert Neinheiser, living about 5 miles northwest of here, got his horses up out of the pasture and fed them and had milked two cows when he noticed flames coming out the cupola of the large barn, belonging to Henry Aufdenkamp. He ran to one of the stable doors and opened it and saw the structure was in flames inside. One horse broke his halter and escaped but the other three had to perish in the flames. The barn was worth about $4,000. The other losses would be about as follows: Hay $400 oats straw, $75; 3 double sets harness; one buggy; one spring wagon; one farm wagon; an implement shed and contents; another shed with grinding machinery. A Ford auto was saved with some impiements. Mrs. Albert Neinheiser had been to the barn for cobs to kindle a fire, but no fire or smoke was then noticed. The cause of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Aufdenkamp and daughter are just returning from a visit in Indiana.

The buildings and some other things belonged to Mr. Aufdenkamp, but the next heaviest loss falls on Albert Neinheiser who farms the land, and who lost his horses, harness and feed. Fred and Lewis Neinheiser also had small losses. A large crowd was soon upon the ground and helped save the house, smoke house and other small buildings. The people who have sustained such a great loss are people who have lived honest industrious lives in that community for a number of years and enjoy the high respect of their neighbors. It looks like an incendiary fire, but what motive could the culprit have except he be crazy. Mr. Aufdenkamp is about 70 years of age and has worked hard and accumulated quite a little property. There was some insurance carried on the property but the loss will be heavy.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Petefish of Springfield came down by auto on Thurday and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Smith. Mr. Petefish attended the hog sale in the afternoon and returned home in the evening.

George Mullens, late of Camp Wadsworth, S. C., is back home with an honorable discharge from the service.

On Thursday at the sale your reporter had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Henderson of Arcadia, whom we had not met for some years. Perry does not grow old very fast. His father, Uncle Jackson H— is past 91, and may round out the century mark.

The meetings at the Christian church are increasing in interest. Evangelist O. C. Bolman is a pleasing speaker. His Junior chorus of school children are getting to rival the big folks in singing. The audience on Sunday night filled the church and listened to a splendid address on "The Mission of the Church."

The Liberty Loan meeting on Sunday afternoon at the Christian church was well attended. Minister C. G. Cantrell presided. After the audience sang America, Minister Thomas Symons of the M. E. church offered a fervent prayer. Rev. Mr. Collins of Jacksonville was then introduced and made a very interesting patriotic talk. He gave a brief description of his trip to Camp Grant, Rockford, and then spoke of the fourth Liberty Loan. The solicitors to wait upon those present were B. A. Cratz, A. G. Brockhouse and O. T. Hamm. Some more money was raised in addition to what had been subscribed, and additions are being made right along. The meeting closed by a song and the closing prayer was by Rev. Collins. Two letters were read by Mr. Cantrell, one by "Kaiser Bill" and the other by the great, big hearted, A. Lincoln. Meetings had been held at the school houses on Saturday night. The Pleasant View school raised their quota in a few minutes. We did not hear from the adjoining districts.

The annual Donation Sale of the Christian church will be held Oct. 17th, at the church. Anything will be sold on commission if not donated outright. Be a "booster" and help.

3,000,000 People Annually Take Nuxated Iron In This Country Alone For Red Blood, Strength and Endurance

"To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of the weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is conservatively estimated that Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and it has been used and endorsed by such men as Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury and ex-Governor of Iowa; former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee Chas. A. Towne; General John L. Clem (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh, who was Sergeant in the U. S. Army when only 12 years of age; also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

PRESIDENT WILSON HELPS WIFE KNIT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Wilson returned to Washington at 4 o'clock this afternoon from New York where he delivered an address last night opening the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

At ManHattan Transfer a few miles out of New York, a small crowd gathered at a distance about the windows of the President's private car to watch him holding with outstretched hand a skein of gray yarn from which Mrs. Wilson was rolling a ball of yarn preparatory to starting a soldier's sock. One finished knitted lay in her lap. The President nodded and smiled at the interested audience on the station platform, but did not let himself become distracted from the task of holding his hands "just so."

BOND CAMPAIGN MOVES ALONG TOWARD GOAL

Chairman Capps Reports More Than Fifty Percent of County Quota Subscribed—People Urged to Discuss Matters With Their Bankers if in Doubt as to Proper Course.

Complete figures on Liberty Loan subscriptions were not available last night because of some necessary checking, but Chairman H. M. Capps stated that subscriptions would easily reach the total of $917,700. It is believed that in addition to this amount that subscriptions to the amount of more than $100.000 have been received. This means that Morgan county is well on the way toward its mark of $1,746,000, and that the total will be secured before the week is over.

The fact is that it has been impossible to secure returns from a great many of the school districts. In other districts the directors have reported that while the school houses were open on Saturday and Monday, that thru some misunderstanding people in the district did not realize the fact and that the special meetings were not held. Chairman Capps has notified all school directors and clerks that special assistance will be sent into any district where this is desirable. Rev. W. E. Collins, chairman of the speakers' committee, will arrange to send speakers into any district where it is desired to have special meetings.

Persons who feel any doubt as to the amount of bonds they should take are urged to consult their bankers. In making subscriptions thru the banks they can have the assurance that the proper credit will be given on the quota of the school district in which they are resident or wherein their property is located. People living in Jacksonville who own farm lands, when making bond purchases will have the credit given in the district where their lands are located. The campaign is moving along satisfactorily is about the right way to sum up the situation and the total will be raised before Saturday night if "every man" does his duty and lends to his government in accordance with his means.

ADVERTISEMENT WINS

A recent issue of the American Artisan and Hardware Record published in Chicago. includes a reproduction of one of the W. L. Alexander Mercantile Co. advertisements in the Journal. The article appears in the department conducted under the heading, "Helpful Hints for the Advertising Writer." After making complimentary comment upon the advertisement the writer said: "The arrangement of the reading matter in this advertisement invites more than a mere passing glance. It induces the prospective customer to give his attention to the company's message. The logotype at the top part of the advertisement is a distinctive one and serves to make the reader of the newspaper stop in the act of turning over the pages. It is a good example of effective advertising."

ILL. COLLEGE BECOMES U. S. ARMY POST

called, 'What but victory can come with such an organized force and the American spirit behind it?' And today that question is in our hearts as we look at these young men and think of the 150,000 college men who are being inducted into army service at this self-same hour.

"As a member of the Morgan county local board it has been my lot to address contingents of departing soldiers and each group looks better to me than the one before. Perhaps the cause for for which this war is being fought constantly gets nearer our hearts. Some soldiers from this county are at the battle front, some are in the cantonments, others are on the way across. Today this company of fine young manhood 'looks good' to me and I can understand that when they talk about the German morale being broken that it really means that the American troops have arrived.

Must Give Hun Crushing Defeat.

"It is in truth a proud thing to be an American today as we think of what has been accomplished in these past months and the war aims of our nation. Some of you are thinking, no doubt, because of the recent success of the allied forces that you will never get across and have active part in this war for liberty and democracy. But I believe that you will get there, for peace of an enduring kind cannot come until the armed forces of the Hun have been given a crushing defeat. Some of you will be over there and march into Berlin in the spring of 1920. And when you get there remember as Dr. Black has frequently said, to be sure and bring back with you the golden horses that are in one of Berlin's streets, for they would look well on the gate posts of Illinois college campus.

"This war has broken in upon our material life and has awakened sensibilities that had been dulled. Some men had gotten away from God and religion and these war times have brought an awakening and have put the affairs of this world in their real light and relationship. Strong men shed tears today without feeling that they have given the slightest evidence of effeminacy and there is a broad recognition of the fact that an omnipotent hand is guiding the destinies of nations.

The Meaning of the Times.

"At the recent bankers' convention in Chicago 4,000 men who guide the financial affairs of this country listened to talks by men from the war front. Incidents were told and there were few indeed of those thousands who had dry eyes, and as Secy. Daniels made reference to the providential care that had made possible the transportation of more than a million men without the loss of life, that whole assemblage bowed in a reverential prayer. These are things which show the meaning of the times and show too, an awakening of heart and soul which in some instances has been vastly needed.

"Mr. Daniels said that the great army and navy of the U. S. are credits to this nation but that God made possible the work which organized them into being. I never had the privilege of attending this college as a student but I can testify today that in Chicago, New York, Washington and other cities where I have spoken, that I have always found some man ready to stand up and say that he is proud of Illinois college because he had been a student there himself or because of some other personal knowledge of the influence of this institution.

"I congratulate you today because you are to take your training at one of the smaller colleges of the country, for I believe there are certain advantages which come to you in an institution of this kind which cannot come in a great university. This occasion cannot pass without a tribute to the loyal and generous part that Morgan county has taken in all war activities. This county has held its fitting place in this great state, which has today the honor of having led in war activities and having furnished practically one-tenth of all the forces of the army and the navy. You as sons of Illinois, I say, have a great heritage. In conclusion let me say that wherever you go the selective board of Morgan county is behind you and with you and will protect you and aid you in every way that is possible."

History Repeating Itself

Capt. J. M. Swales was presented as the commander of Matt Starr Post, G. A. R., and the presiding officer stated that the young men might readily take inspiration from these soldiers of the Civil war. Capt. Swales who spoke but briefly, said that he entered the service in 1861 and that he well remembered when two companies marched away from this city to enter the war. Illinois, he said, had done its great part in the Civil war, giving the country Lincoln, Grant, Logan and other leaders, and contributing 256,000 soldiers, which meant at that time half the population of the state.

"So history is repeating itself today as Illinois is taking such a prominent part in the military affairs of the nation. I congratulate you young men today in entering this service and the only piece of advice that I would give you is to obey orders. If you follow this plan life in the army will be very satisfactory to you and you will always keep out of trouble. You are going to come back, I feel sure, at some future time, bringing back the bacon and no doubt part of the Rhine."

The chairman then voiced his pleasure over being able to introduce Lieut. Col. Clifford of Washington, D. C. Col. Clifford was an unexpected but welcome guest. He referred to the fact that it had been twenty-two years since he left the halls of Illinois college and he had never attended a chapel exercise since that commencement day. He had often had a mental picture of returning to the chapel hall of the college, but he little thought that it would be to a scene such as was presented Tuesday morning with the college an army post and nearly 150 students entering upon their duties as soldiers.

Civilian Loyalty

The speaker said that too much credit in these days could not be given the civil population who were so loyally supporting every war movement, the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus and other special activities. "Without this fine support at home," the speaker said, "there would be no progress or efficiency at the front." Col. Clifford then enlivened the serious vein of his talk by a good story or two and said to the newly inducted soldiers that they would find a certain part of their training drudgery but that willingness and patience, together with absolute obedience to orders, would bring results. As inspiration for their army work and as a guide in their efforts, the speaker declared that President Wilson's recent address embodied principles for their action and guidance. "How the army has grown," the speaker said, "is indicated by the fact that when the war began there were less than 5,000 officers and today they number more than 186,000. So for the most part if you become officers you will be associated with men who have had only a year or so more experience than yourself.

"As you go into this war I would remind you of a statement recently made by Mr. Fosgate, head of the war recreation board. He had returned from the front and said that he was present when 600 American soldiers who were about to go to the trenches, were asked to write down on cards what they considered the three greatest sins among soldiers. All of the 600 gave cowardice as the first. The great majority of them named selfishness as the second and there were many who wrote "big head" as the third. I know that there is not the slightest chance of any of you young men here showing cowardice in the army service. It is not likely that any of you will develop selfishness, and I beg of you, don't get the 'big head.' If you do, you are certain sooner or later to come to grief for there is no place in the world equal to the army for taking down egotism. I have seen time after time young men who have become lieutenants showing off their authority and always eventually with disastrous results to themselves.

Part of Great Army

"You are to be congratulated today as a part of the greatest army the world has ever seen, for it is the greatest army physically and morally. It is the best fed, the best clothed and the best equipped army that has ever been assembled and no audacious empire-seeking Hun can stop the onslaught of our brave forces. As a last word I would reiterate what Capt. Swales has said, obey your officers implicity. Keep before you the American ideals and purpose in this war and as you are part of this great army you will be an honor to it and have your proper share in winning this contest, waged in the name of humanity."

The Merritt band played a patriotic selection and then Lieut. Hardwick stated that the student army at the college would be out of quarantine Oct. 14. After that time the civilian population will be welcome on the hill. The men were then ordered to march to the campus under command of Lieut. Hardwick and led by the Merritt band playing "Onward Christian Soldiers," they marched to the club house for mess. The exercises thruout were of a most impressive kind.

S. A. T. C. NOTES.

The names of men inducted into the army training corps are printed elsewhere This is not an official list and it is possible that some changes will be made.

The mattresses sent by the government have been received and it is expected the cots and other supplies will arrive shortly, as shipment has already been made.

Immediately after the exercises yesterday morning the men were taken to mess and in the afternoon spent some time at drill. The night hours were consumed in securing measurements for uniforms and these were telegraphed to Washington. It is the expectation that the uniforms will be received in the course of a comparatively short time.

The college was notified yesterday of the appointment of another resident officer. A lieutenant is coming from the university of Michigan and will share with Lieut. Hardwick in the duties of command.

After today mess will be served in the gymnasium, the necessary changes having been made there. While cooks from the outside are in service now, the young men are doing the work of "kitchen police", just as is true at the cantonments They prepare vegetables, wait on the tables and have similar duties

It is understood that the work of inoculation for typhoid will begin at once. Dr. D. D. Reid was recently recommended to the war department as temporary resident army surgeon.

Engineers and Quartermasters

(By Thomas L. Johnson)

The following is the sixth of a series of articles on the war written for the Journal by Thomas L. Johnson, until a few months since a lieutenant in the British air service and relieved from duty because of injuries. It is Mr. Johnson's purpose to give some facts about present day methods of warfare not known to many private citizens:

There are several different branches of service to every army, all of which play important parts, and which are all necessary to conduct a war on the scale that the present war is conducted. The Engineer and the Quartermaster branches play especially important parts, as they are connected one with the welfare of the troops (engineers) making safe trenches and dug-outs for them, and also places to rest and the other (quartermaster) feeding and supplying their various wants.

Engineers.

Each brigade in a division has a company of engineers attached. The work of these engineers varies. They have charge of all the tools that are used in building trenches and dug-outs, and even the infantryman that digs the trench or dug-out is supervised by the engineers to see that it is done in the proper manner and that it is safe. The Brigadier in charge of a brigade wants a trench dug at a certain place. He calls the commanding officer of the engineers and tells him about it. This engineer officer details an officer or two of his, and some of his men. They with a detail of infantry that happens to be in that part of the line, dig that trench. Again a battalion commander thinks that a dug-out in the section of trenches that his troops occupy is unsafe. He calls the engineer officer attached to his battalion and points out the place which is unsafe. That officer gets a detail of men and proceeds to make it safe.

Immediately behind the trenches there is what is known as the Engineers' dump. There all the barb wire, sandbags, corrugated iron sheets, etc., that are designated for the trenches are dumped off the transports and kept until wanted.

In the trenches a portion of the sandbag parapet may have been blown away by a German shell. There is a new parapet required and it will require about 1000 sandbags filled with earth to make that parapet. The officer in charge of that section of trench writes out a requisition to the Engineer officer attached to the battalion. The latter countersigns it and sends it down to the officer in charge of the dump, where 1000 sandbags are issued and taken up to the trenches. There they are filled with earth, and the new parapet is built up under the supervision of the Engineer officer.

A machine gun officer may want to set up a couple of machine guns in a certain part of a trench, and he must have some emplacements built for it. He goes to the engineer officer and tells him about it, and also tells him where he wants the emplacements built and how. The engineer officer gets the materials and see that the emplacements are built according to specifications. The Artillery calls on the engineers for observation posts. When there is, or seems likely to be, any activity in certain parts of the line the artillery wants observation posts in those parts of the line where the activity is, and the engineers have to build them. Behind the trenches it is the engineers that put up the rest billets for the troops or fix up houses that have been damaged by shell fire, and are taken over by the government for use of troops.

In a war of movement it is the engineers that build pontoon bridges where there is any need for them, lay wires, etc. In the trenches it is the engineers that do the mining under the trenches, as was done in June, 1917 when the large mines under the Messines and Wyschatte Ridges, in Belgium were blown up. The British engineers started mining from Ypres (3½ miles away) in May, 1915. They burrowed under their own lines and the Germans and carried the mines back a half mile behind the German lines in some places, and in June, 1917 it was all complete and fired. Records show what damage the firing of those mines caused and what the cost was to the Germans. In France the British engineers run canal boats on such canals as the Somme, La Bassee, etc. Many of the boats are fitted out as hospital boats and hundreds of wounded men are sent down the line in them in the course of a month. During the battle of the Somme, in which I was wounded, I was taken to the casualty clearing station at Corby by ambulance. From Corby I was taken to Amiens to a stationary hospital, by ambulance again. Both journeys were very short. From Amiens I was put into one of these hospital barges and sent to Abbeyville and from there on to Rouen also in a hospital barge. The barges are fitted up with the most modern hospital appliances available and each one has a complete operating room on board.

In the British army the engineers are also the Signal branch of the army. They have charge of all the telegraph and telephone cables. They are the operators and repair men. In the trenches engineers are continually going aronud looking for breaks in the wires and repairing them when found. It is also the engineers that lay the telephone wires for the artillery, from the battery position right to the observation post, which the battery's forward observing officer is using, and during an advance they must carry the wire right behind the infantry to the advanced positions so communication can be set up with headquarters as soon as possible and reports made as to the progress of the attack.

Engineers also have charge of all the mails addressed to troops. In England and France there is a chain of army postoffices that give better service than the civilian postoffices. All the letters written by soldiers in France are collected by engineers and sent out by them to their various destinations. The railroads are also in charge of the engineers. All repair work on them and the running of freight and troop trains are by the railway sections of the Royal Engineers.

In the French army the French engineers have practically the same duties to perform as those in the British. The American engineers are working with the British and French and studying their methods, so as to be efficient not only with the American army but with the British and French armies should the occasion arise that they ever have to work with them.

Taking the Engineer Corps altogether it is a very large and important branch of the service on which many volumes could be written. I am merely trying to give the general public an idea as to the duties they have to perform, and if I had the time and space could tell of many instances in which the engineers not only did their ordinary duties, but after they were done, threw down their shovels and their tools and picked up rifles and helped to beat off German attacks and took a hand in British and French attacks.

Quartermasters Corps.

At about 10 every night, ration parties of infantrymen leave the trenches and go to a certain place about 2 miles behind them where there are a series of large dug-outs in which there is to be found all kinds of tinned and fresh meat, jams, butter, bread, etc. That is the headquarters of the detachments of the Quartermasters branch with the brigade that is in the trenches.

These ration parties come out every night to carry back the food for their company or battalion for the following day, and as they leave with their loads the dug-out becomes empty. Then at about midnight transport wagons start coming up, stopping at the dug-outs and unloading their contents which are carried in to be made ready to issue to the ration parties when they come out again.

Those are the duties of the Quartermasters, to keep the army supplied with food and other supplies, in fact everything they need except arms and ammunition. Food, clothing, shoes, boots, hats, hay, oats, automobile parts, gasoline, oils, chairs, pails, mops, tables, any and everything is to be found at the quartermasters, and provided with the right kind of orders and requisitions one can get anything that is wanted.

A ship arrives at a base port in France from England or the United States with a lot of supplies for the army. The quartermaster corps officer comes on board, directs the unloading and has the whole ship load sent to various depots, or stores, (warehouse) in that base. Perhaps that base takes care of 15 divisions, so rations and supplies have to be sent up to them everyday, no matter where they are. The number of men with each division is known at the base headquarters, so rations and supplies are shipped to the officer in command of the Supply depot for each army corps (which is made up of 3 divisions) who in turn ships to the officer in charge of the supply depot for each division and so to each brigade (3 brigades to a division), where the ration parties of each battalion draw their supplies for the men in their battalions.

Clothing is supplied to the men when they are out for their long rest, each unit previously indenting for a certain amount or as much as they need of the articles that are wanted. All old clothing is sent back to base towns where they are all baled up and returned to England where they go thru some process or other and new cloth made of them.

During the first year of the war, the Quartermaster's Corps of the British Army (Army Service Corps) were not so well organized and as the fighting was mostly open there were no ration parties to go out for rations. The men of the Service corps had to bring the rations right into the firing line for the men and hand them out almost individually and especially during the retreat from Mons. Men of the Army Service corps were continually going up to the line where the rear guards were holding off the Germans, and supplying them with food. At that time there wasn't very much, but what there was, was brought up to the men by these men of the service corps regardless of their own danger. (The Army Service corps is not a fighting corps.)

The Quartermaster Corps is another great branch of the army, which must be kept up to the highest standard to get maximum efficiency. A little slip of a cog in this great wheel might keep supplies away from a battalion, brigade, division or even an army corps, for days and cause a big drop in the fighting efficiency of that unit. Up to the present time there has been no such slip and there won't be any. They have good men who know their business at the head of the Quartermaster Corps of the armies of the allies..

Of the Ordnance and Cavalry branches, I know but very little, not enough to write of them under separate headings.

The Ordinance is a corps that takes care of the arms and ammunition of the army. Rifles, bayonets, bombs, trench mortars, machine guns, bullets, shells, cannon, etc., are all ordnance and must go thru the ordnance corps. Old rifles and cannon, etc, are repaired by this corps and made useful again, especially so in artillery. After a gun has been fired a certain length of time it must be taken out of action and a new rifling put into the barrel. After an engagement one can see large piles of rifles that were collected on the battlefield, German as well as our own. They are all sent to the base to the large ordnance shops, where they are repaired and made useful again.

The ordnance corps also make new rifles and other arms, as well as bullets, bombs and shells. It is their business to keep the army supplied which they do well.

Cavalry in this war has been used but very little. In August, September, October and November, 1914 they were used quite frequently; since then very little, as trench warfare commenced and in that kind of warfare cavalry is useless. To keep a large amount of cavalry in France where they to some other front where they were useless and doing nothing was not worth while. To send them to some other front where they could be used was also useless, as they might be wanted any time in France. So in 1915 Cavalrymen were given infantrymen's training and have been fighting in the trenches with, and as infantrymen, ever since. When they are out for a rest, they keep on with their cavalry drill so they will not forget what the cavalry has to do when they get their chance at the Hun. That chance will soon be here ,and the cavalry is ready and waiting for it, far more eagerly than the Hun is waiting for them. When they do get at the Hun there will be very little left of the Hun for any other branch.

Are you getting at the Hun these days of the Fourth Liberty Loan? Or are you waiting for the Hun to get at you? The Cavalry could not get at the Hun as cavalry, so they get at him as infantry. How are you getting at him, Army, Navy, Red Cross, or Buying Liberty Bonds?

NOTES FROM THE COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE.

Poultry Demonstrations Arouse Interest—Groups of interested people attended the culling demonstrations put on by Fred L. Platt of the U. S. Department of Agriculture both at the farm of J. P. Doan and L. W. Reed. At Mr. Reed's the entire flock of Rhode Island Reds were culled. Very promising birds were marked with leg bands. All the culls were penned up as a check on the work and to make it easy to dispose of them. In general, about one-third of the birds were culled out as being unfitted for profitable production. I wish every poultry raiser in the county could get on to this method of culling. It would certainly revolutionize the industry. Inquiries have been made from other points for demonstrations and Mr. Platt will return for two days work in the near future. These demonstrations will be given wherever there is request for them.

Silage and Soybeans—The county agent stopped at F. E. Drury's farm for a few minutes Monday to see the silo filling. Soybeans had been planted in the corn, and the binder was getting a great many of them in the silage. The high protein content of the soybean ought to make the silage approach the theoretical balanced ration. The beans that escaped the binder, and the ears of corn that were knocked off were being taken care of by 500 pigs of various kinds and descriptions. A farmer, in the eastern part of the county, was afraid the pigs were not eating the beans, when he turned the hogs into the corn field. In the field visited at the Drury farm the pigs were not only eating tops with a relish, but appeared to be going after the roots as well. The soybean is a legume that is no longer an experiment with us. We ought to plan for a large acreage of them next year.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

ENJOYING VISIT FROM UNCLE

F. E. Drury is enjoying a visit from his uncle, Rev. C. E. Paxson of St. Louis. The gentleman is not in charge of a church but is devoting his time to lecturing on timely topics. He has recently closed a series of addresses in the gospel tabernacle at Champaign, his theme being "Prophecy." He is a son of the great Stephen Paxson, the giant in Sunday school mission work, a man who traveled much of the west and south establishing Sunday schools and according to carefully prepared statistics he gathered into Sunday schools more than 150,000 children. He was the father of the Sunday school convention idea and was great in his field. When the work was done he gave up his famous buggy and horse and opened a Sunday school supply house in St. Louis but sedentary habits failed to agree with him and he died at the comparatively early age of 75.

Buying Bonds Will Bring VICTORY

Every soldier breathes the faith that our people are standing shoulder to shoulder with them in this greatest fight of all ages by oversubscribing this Liberty Loan to supply the needs of war.

So the meaning behind that wonderful sentence — "Fourth Liberty Loan will be oversubscribed" carries with it unbounded enthusiasm which is clearly evident among the boys at the front, bringing out in them that finest quality of spirit and the deepest power — that quality which says with absolute certainty, "A complete and final victory."

PROSPECT OF PEACE SENDS CORN DOWN

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Increased belief in chances of a quick ending of the war brought about decided fresh setbacks today in the price of corn. The market closed unsettled 2¼c to 3c net lower with October $1.33 to $1.33½ and Nov. $1.30¾ to 1.31.

Oats finished ⅝@¾c off to ⅜c up and provisions ranging from $1 decline to 20c advance.

Developments that had a bearing on peace monopolized the attention of corn traders and resulted in general selling until values were forced down more than 10c under the high point of the previous day. Much of the pressure to get rid of holdings was said to come from rural sources. The market was characterized by rapid bulges and breaks. In the end the trade was said to be more closely evened up than has been the case in a long time. Seaboard demand checked declines in the oats market.

Owing to improved call from big interests lard and ribs rallied from early weakness. Pork received no stimulus and fell the limit allowed for a single day.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition, kept me worrying most of the time--and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I had heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. Worthdine, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, rundown, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

HEAVY SELLING ON STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The cleveage between war and peace shares became more divergent in today's active and confused stock market, the former again yielding irregularl yto heavy selling while some of the latter added to gains of the previous day.

Rather more noteworthy than either of these movements however, was the confident inquiry for rails including secondary or low priced shares. Absorption of those issues was again ascribed to excellent statements of earnings. Among the erstwhile "war brides" further reactions of 1 to 4 points were witnessed and United States steel, never popullarly regarded as a war stock made an extreme decline of three points on a very large turnover. Shippings, motors, coppers and various miscellaneous shares contributed appreciably to the general strength of the list until the final hour when United States steel was at its minimum and rails forfeited much if not all of their early advance, the market closing with a heavy tone. Sales amounted to 860,000 shares.

Liberty bonds, the 3½s excepted were firmer. Sales $8,750,000.

W. DEMOTTE GATES DIED AT CAMP GRANT

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gates Makes Supreme Sacrifice—Resided Here Until Two Years Ago—Enlisted from Minneapolis.

W. DeMotte, "Pat" Gates died at Camp Grant at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of pneumonia which followed an attack of Spanish influenza which is raging there at the present time.

A dispatch arrived earlier in the day addressed to Mr. Gates' parents. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gates of 1036 West Lafayette avenue, telling them that their son was in a critical condition. Mr.. Gates was in Winchester on business and Mrs. Gates communicated with him and he came home by automobile.

Upon his arrival he got in communication with the cantonment by telephone and was given the news of his son's death. A telegram also had arrived containing the same sad intelligence.

"Pat" Gates as he was known to his countless friends and all residents of Jacksonville was born and reared in this city and was 30 years of age last April. He graduated from the high school and soon after graduation became associated with his father in the R. A. Gates Fuel and Ice company. He proved most successful in his work and was in active business life in this city until two years ago when they disposed of the business to H. K. Snyder.

Soon afterward Mr. Gates went to Minneapolis, Minn., where his brother, Jerome E. Gates had been engaged in business for some time and took up his residence. He was rapidly making good in that city when he was drawn for military service. He was sent to Camp Grant in June.

Mr. Gates was a young man who made his influence felt in civic affairs in Jacksonville. He was one of the organizers and boosters of the young men's "Booster" club. This club took an active interest in all municipal problems and was always to be found working for any forward movement and "Pat" Gates was to be found in the front ranks of the workers.

He was a member of Westminster church and was actively interested in the various activities of that body. He was a member of Jacksonville Lodge No. 570, A. F. & A. M. and of Jacksonville Chapter No. 3, R. A. M. He also was a member of Jacksonville Lodge No. 152 Knights of Pythias, Ilderim Temple, Knights of Khorassan, and Jacksonville Lodge No. 682 B. P. O. E.

The death of Mr. Gates removes a young man whose business future was bright as he had given evidence of unusual ability along business lines. To his many friends news of his death will be received with universal sorrow.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Jerome E. Gates, Minneapolis, Minn.; Marshall D. Gates, Lincoln; Ray Allen Gates, Beardstown, and one sister, Miss Louise Gates of Allentown, Pa.

The body will be brought here for burial. The hour of its arrival and the hour of the funeral are not yet known. It is probable that a military escort will be sent with the body from Camp Grant.

MRS. HAIRGROVE TO ENGAGE IN WAR WORK

Mrs. J. W. Hairgrove will leave today for El Paso, Texas, where she will remain for a number of months to assist her sister, Miss Cornelia Marvin, in some special library work. Miss Marvin, who is head of the library commission of Oregon, was recently sent to El Paso to take charge of some government work in connection with the libraries for the various camps in that locality. Mrs. Hairgrove had intended to go to Salem, Ore., but instead will spend the months assisting in this patriotic work. In the late winter she will probably go to the coast before returning to Jacksonville.

As Mrs. Hairgrove will be absent for six months Dr. Hairgrove will close his home on East State street and will be at the Pacific hotel. Because of the special present demands on his time Dr. Hairgrove has recently announced that he cannot now take non-surgical cases.

VIRGINIA MAN SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Virginia, Oct. 1.—(Special).—Sam Coop lies in a Jacksonville hospital in a serious condition from a shotgun wound at the hands of John Maupin. The shooting took place in the blacksmith shop of the wounded man. It will be remembered that Coop is the man who killed Finis Maupin, son of John Maupin, of this city, August 15th by clubbing him to death. It seems that the elder Maupin, who is over sixty years of age has been brooding considerably over the unfortunate death of his son.

About four o'clock this afternoon Maupin entered the blacksmith shop of Coop, and without warning fired the shot into Coop's right side. The injured man was rushed to Jacksonville in an automobile accompanied by Dr. A. R. Lyle, the injured man's wife, W. J. Decker and Frank Michael. At the hospital he was operated on by Dr. W. P. Duncan, who found that Coop's liver had been perforated, one rib broken, that he had internal bruises and was suffering from hemorrhages, his condition being serious.

Coop was recently released on bail by Judge Jones and there has been a very strong feeling against him ever since the killing of Finis Maupin.

John Maupin was arrested shortly after the shooting and locked up in the Cass county jail.

HIGH SCHOOL ISSUES FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Local School Has Heavy Schedule—First Game with Springfield Here—Locals Have Prospects of a Fair Team.

The local high school football schedule has been issued and shows that the locals will have a heavy schedule for the 1918 season. The locals have a team composed of nearly all green men. However, Principal Hopkins, who is doing the coaching has felt much encouraged the past week. He now has a squad of 25 men and believes that he will have a team that will give a good account of itself tho he is not boasting of a world beater.

Season tickets have been printed and will be placed on sale in a few days. Indications point to a good sale as at present it is not known whether or not Illinois college will have any football.

The first game of the season is a hard contest, being booked with the Springfield team. Springfield gives indications of having a strong team. However, Jacksonville always puts up her gamest fight against the capital city boys and the game Saturday will be worth seeing. All of the games will be played on Illinois field. The schedule follows:

October 6—Springfield here.
October 12—Virden here.
October 19—Pittsfield here.
November 2—Alton at Alton.
November 9—Quincy here.
November 13—Waverly here.

Corp. R. J. Johnson is coming tonight from St. Louis, according to a telegram received yesterday by C. A. Johnson from E. E. Crabtree, to assist in the Liberty loan campaign. Corp. Johnson will speak Thursday afternoon at the Meredosia picnic, and will be in Waverly for an evening meeting. Friday and Saturday Mr. Johnson has arranged for the speaker to be in Greene and Jersey counties and Sunday evening he will speak at Winchester. That Corporal Johnson has had experiences which will enable him to give a message of great interest is indicated in the telegram from Mr. Crabtree, which reads as follows:

St. Louis, Mo.,
Oct. 1, 1918.

C. A. Johnson,
Jacksonville, Illinois.

Corporal R. J. Johnson, Co. B. 29th Engineers, Michigan, enlisted in Alaska, Oct. 17, Washington State to Camp Devens, Mass., overseas early in January, three weeks preparatory British school, proceeded to fifth British army in Somme, present at large German offensive of last March. Was in historical gap formed between the third and fifth British armies which was closed to opposing German army by an unprecedented alliance of men that have ever been thrown together for about twelve days of bombardment and artillery fire. Five days and nights at grip with enemy our group of troops after repelling successive attacks were practically surrounded and forced to withdraw during which time I received my wound and the greater per cent of the boys met death trying to escape. Was in position of an eye witness to greater part of large German offensive which I speak from beginning almost to end.

E. E. Crabtree,
Illinois State Chairman.

BACK FROM NORTH DAKOTA.

W. H. Turner Gives Some Interesting Facts Regarding Tning Up North.

W. H. Turner of East Railroad street has returned from a stay of some weeks in North Dakota where he has been engineer of a threshing machine which has been getting out the harvests in that country He has been mostly in the vicinity of Larrimore on the Great Northern railroad and there came in contact with a number of persons formerly of this county. The figures he gives are approximate regarding acreage and yield.

Ernest and George Fanning formerly of Murrayville precinct are carrying on 3,000 acres in small grain, wheat, oats, barley and flax and the yield of wheat was about 22 bushels to the acre They had 800 bushels of flax seed for which they received $4.50 a bushel. Their crops this year amounted to about 18,000 bushels of wheat, 12,000 bushels of oats, 700 bushels barley. For the wheat, a superior article, they receive $2.20; for the oats, 75c; for the barley 60c. They are nine miles from Larrimore and haul their grain in a wagon holding 120 bushels.

William Galloway is farming 1,920 acres and is only a mile and a half from the station and has had good crops.

Edward Cunningham is nine miles from the station and has 640 acres and on a field of 85 acres he had a crop of 32 bushels to the acre.

Caleb Warcup has 1,920 acres and is only five miles from the station, and on the opposite side of the town from the others. He also had good crops.

Henry Dean, formerly of Manchester, carries on two sections 1,280 acres. He is only four miles from town and had good crops.

The Megginsons are also doing well.

Common laborers command from $4.50 to $7.00 a day. The farmers are careless in the way they treat their men in way of lodging and food and the result is hands are scarce and high priced. Recently the government sent 300 soldiers into the vicinity of Devil's Lake and they were treated better and they helped thresh. Farmers are too careless regarding the fertility of the land many times burning the straw instead of spreading it on the surface. Threshing rates are, wheat 20c per bushel; oats, 19c; rye 26c; flax, 50c. Farm hands command $75 a month plowing and digging potatoes. Considerable livestock is raised profitably tho the land is far below that of Morgan county.
